

Tubelite to distribute Caldera in the USA

caldera.eu

Tubelite, a prominent international supplier for sign, digital, and screen-printing equipment and consumables, is pleased to welcome the software products of Caldera Graphics to its range of products. Caldera's line-up in color management, imaging and driving solutions for large format production houses will very much enhance the selections already available to the company's customers. Caldera software packages are production oriented and have out of the box capability to produce high quality graphics with emphasis on color quality.
